What to do First

After release, the first thing you should do after calling your parole/probation officer is contact your case manager or a community service organization to make an appointment to meet with a case manager. Your case manager will help you to get needed services. Together you can create a plan to continue your medical care and address other needs like getting an ID, finding shelter, accessing food pantry and transportation.

Don't wait until the last minute to call your case manager for assistance, they are there to answer questions and help you make the transition into your new life. If circumstances beyond your control keep you from going to your first appointment, call as soon as possible to discuss your situation and reschedule the appointment.

ADAP Drug Assistance Program

(800) 255-1090

Once you have been released, call ADAP to let them know. It can take several days to get your meds so it's important to call as soon as possible. When you call, an eligibility worker will assign you to a pharmacy. Sometimes they will need additional information or ask you to fill out a new application. If necessary, your case manager can help you complete the application and make sure it is correct. Once enrolled, your assigned pharmacy will need prescriptions and your ADAP ID number to order your meds. It will take a few days for your meds to be ready for pick up. If you have any questions call ADAP or your case manager for assistance. Open Monday-Friday, 8am-5pm (except for state holidays)

Emergency Homeless Services

If you have nowhere to go when you are released, these places can help with basic needs like food, clothing and shelter.
